RESOURCE RECOVERY

To whom it may Concern:

Patrick Embry, owner of Valley Automation Inc. has worked with the City of Harrisonburg Resource recovery facility for 15 years, through contract services.

We are a municipal waste incinerator and central heating / cooling facility for James Madison University CISAT with the capability to make 2.5 Meg of electricity.

Patrick has helped us over the years with installing and troubleshooting many control processes. He and his staff have supported our efforts in areas using Delta V, York talk, Allen Bradley, Intellution and general network support and maintenance.

He has also installed some of his own work processes and control up-dates that have worked well for us over the years.

I feel he would be an asset with your project; either bidding the control process or helping you to evaluate what your contactor is offering or suggesting.

If you have any question or want additional information please feel free to contact me at 540-434-5928
